

An Insiders' Guide to the Best Motorcycle Routes in the N.C. Mountains

The Western North Carolina mountains are known for some of the most scenic and enjoyable motorcycle routes in the world. Whether it's cruising on America's most celebrated motor route, the Blue Ridge Parkway, or exploring the back roads of the region, the mountain towns of Cashiers, Cherokee, Dillsboro, and Sylva serve as the perfect base camp for your motorcycling adventures.

From one rider to another, these are the best routes our locals love nknown to many riders, however, is that we hold many rider-friendly lesser-traveled back roads, access to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, and more of the Blue Ridge Parkway than any other county in the state. Jackson County's central location also makes it the ideal place for riders to enjoy their visit, allowing them to spend less time stuck in traffic, and more time exploring and enjoying mountain vistas. The following guide is "geared" towards the motorcyclist and contains recommended routes from local riders. Go ahead and hop on and head towards your next adventure in the Western North Carolina mountains.

Insider Tips

- I Pines Recreation Area, 1965 Pine Creek Road, Cullowhee, NC 28723: Offering 26 miles of shoreline, 3 waterfalls, and place to take a rest, Lake Glenville is one of the highest elevated lakes east of the Mississippi. The Pines Recreation Area amenities includes a sandy swimming beach with plenty of parking for multiple bikes, restrooms, and picnic benches to eat a packed lunch.
